LINCOLN PARK.

Sunday Concert—This Week's Vaudeville.

Lincoln park Sunday afternoon concerts are popular. The attendance is invariably of generous proportions and the theater talent which during the week has given two performances daily is always available for the concert. No admission is charged to the theater and everybody is welcome to a reserved seat. There is, of course, the customary cost of a nickel for admission to the park, but on Sunday afternoons the theater and its best seats are completely free. The entertainment yesterday afternoon was decidedly agreeable to the audience. Many remained at the park for an hour or two after the last act and enjoyed the cool pavilion and the shady walks. Tonight will see the commencement of one of the best bills offered so far this season to the Rustic theater patrons. Lew "Kip" Reed in "A Monkey's Homecoming" is one of the most comical performers traveling. Adams and Kelly are high grade Irish comedians, with a large supply of smart snarls, catchy songs and novel dances. Mayville, the wife juggler, is a mystifying artist who holds the house's breathless attention by his skillful balancing and other feats. Morrow and Helms, the original two-man minstrel show, are described as very merry entertainers and full of fun and frolic. Elmer and Helen, the "Rubin" Chinatown, take their attentive watchers through all the engrossing and ludicrous scenes of New York's supposedly tough Oriental quarter.

BREED THEATER.

"The Oysterman's Gold." Thrilling Story of the Sea.

At the Breed theater this week, will be shown a picture that is a real novelty and is entitled "The Oysterman's Gold," showing an oyster dredging oysterman, a very interesting subject in itself. The day's work has been most successful as the boat returns heavily laden. Right on the wharf the oysterman sells the entire load. He puts his gold into a bag and starts on his way home. Two helpers watch the transaction and decide to get the gold for themselves. They follow him, and high upon a cliff they attack him. There is a fierce struggle between the oysterman and one of the outlaws. Just when they are in a clinch, the other pushes the two down the rocks where he finds them afterwards lifeless. He takes the oysterman's gold and runs away, but he is haunted by the dead man, whose warning he had continually seen before him. His guilty conscience drives him towards the sea and from a high rock he jumps into a watery grave.

"The Message," another big biographic success, is booked for this week. Besides "A Mother's Choice," "The Phantom Siren," and a most interesting and novel method of presenting a number of the foremost rulers of the world, included in which are the rulers of England, Germany, Russia, France, Spain and the United States.

The Breed patrons will be again charmed by the very acceptable singing of Master Harry Noonan, who will render "When I Marry You," a very late illustrated song hit.

Consult Paul Lang reports that the twenty-fifth annual exhibition of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association will be held at Sherbrooke, Quebec, from Aug. 25 to Sept. 4, 1909. He says that this is the largest fair held in the province and that New England manufacturers have obtained good results from exhibiting there.

A report on sixty Indian tea companies for 1908-1909 shows them generally in good financial shape. They all paid dividends ranging from 5 to 27 per cent., except seventeen, which failed to make good. A majority of the companies paid satisfactory dividends.

Rich or poor or proud and handsome. Even you can read this Chanson. By no law of luck or chances. Every tooth you save enhances. All your smiles and conversation. Renders joy to all relations. Don't despair when teeth are aching. Save them, all their shapes remaking. Life's prolonged and health extended. Every time a tooth is mended. You will find your joy remedied. Dentist I "my crown" reveals it. Every art by art conceals it. Nature gave all in good season. Teeth to eat with, minds to reason. Is it her fault, yours or mine. Shall their loss be mine or thine. Thou shalt know in all good time.
